Revision Of Tariff Bill Now Sought

Group of 180 Economists in Plea to Hoover to Bring About Change

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—

A group of 180 economists, holding that the prediction of two years ago as to the Smoot-Hawley tariff had been borne out by the slump in foreign trade, have petitioned President Hoover to bring about its revision.

The economists, representing 63 colleges and universities were among those who had asked the President to veto the Smoot-Hawley bill on grounds it would result in retaliatory rates by other countries and would have a disastrous effect on foreign trade.

The new petition reached the White House a few hours after the President had returned from Cleveland, where he had defended Republican tariff policies in his campaign speech. Prof. James C. Bonbright of Columbia university presented the petition. Bonbright is a member of the National Progressive league, which is supporting Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. However, he said petition signers "included many economists who are taking no active part in the presidential campaign."

The meeting will be held in conjunction with the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce.

The survey revealed the following decreases adopted for the current fiscal year as compared with last year:

Reduction by 25 counties, $10,882,702.

Reduction by schools of same counties, $20,775,760.

Reductions by 60 cities, $10,488,594.

Los Angeles county made the largest budget reduction, cutting $18,355,819 from the combined estimates for schools and county government. San Francisco was second with a reduction of $4,652,433 for schools and city and county government. Other large reductions were:

Ventura county, $1,114,678; Alameda county, $1,001,533; San Joaquin, $865,791; Orange, $843,342; Riverside, $799,823; Santa Barbara, $629,617; San Bernardino, $496,990; Stanislaus, $454,561; Santa Clara, $443,802, and Monterey, $416,756.

HOOVER LAUNCHES DRIVE FOR CHESTS

EDITOR AND AUTHOR SUES FOR DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—(UP)—

Louis Weitzkorn, former New York editor and author of the play, "Five Star Final," today charged his wife Irma May, told him she no longer loves him, in a cross-complaint for divorce.

The writer, now employed in motion pictures, denied his wife's charges that he caused her embarrassment through association with other women. Mrs. Weitzkorn had charged her husband also called her "stupid" in her divorce complaint, which was filed when she abandoned an action for $1000 monthly separate maintenance. A property settlement is reported to have been effected out of court.

THREE GUESSES

ALEXANDER HURSH IS DENIED REVIEW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Alexander Hursh and six co-defendants convicted of mail fraud before Judge John M. Killits in Los Angeles federal court today were denied a supreme court review of the proceedings against them.

Their case came before the supreme court on a ruling by Judge Killits that their bill of exceptions did not comply with the circuit court rules. The circuit court refused to issue a mandamus order forcing approval of the bill.

Those appealing with Hursh are Lucille M. Head, James H. Knowles, D. Jay Smith, F. C. Halmos, W. B. Collins and Ernest S. Phillips.

FOREIGN NEWS AT A GLANCE

LEWIS IS ILL VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Sinclair Lewis, American writer, was confined to bed today with a slight attack of influenza.

CABINET RESIGNS BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 17.—(UP)—The cabinet of Premier Valja-Voived resigned today. The king reserved decision on accepting the resignation.

SEVEN KILLED PARIS, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Seven persons were known dead and 20 were injured today in a railway wreck on the Paris-Cherbourg line near Ceranes. There were no North Americans among the casualties. A local passenger train collided with a freight train.

FIRE DESTROYS CHURCH LOSSIEMOUTH, Scotland, Oct. 17.—(UP)—The church

regularly attended by Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald and his family was destroyed by fire yesterday. It was understood that a Bible presented to Macdonald on his last visit to the United States was destroyed.

PROTESTANTS ARRESTED VERA CRUZ, Mex., Oct. 17.—(UP)—The anti-religious league raided an open-air meeting at a ranch near here yesterday and arrested 20 Protestants headed by their pastor, M. J. Martinez. They were taken to the village of Medellin and placed in jail on charges of violating the new religious laws. Two Bibles were offered as evidence.

CENSOR TELEGRAMS RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Censorship of cablegrams and telegrams imposed during the Paulista rebellion was lifted today.

BULLETIN SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Climaxing a bitter quarrel with Governor Ralph Johnson virtually announced his candidacy for governor in 1934.

Johnson was one of the strongest supporters of Ralph during the governor's 1930 primary campaign.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Declaring the deposit of $2,000,000 in a Sacramento bank capitalized at only $200,000 was a "dangerous policy," State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson today announced he would ask the 1933 legislature to enact laws to prevent repetition of such an act.

Johnson also made public a letter he had written to Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, last May, warning him that he was taking a great risk in such a deposit.

"I telephoned the cashier of the bank at that time and asked him his record of deposits as of that date of public moneys in the bank," Johnson said. "I was informed that the money on that date in the Sacramento bank to the credit of the state highway commission was approximately $2,000,000. The records referred to will confirm this statement.

"As state treasurer it is my duty to exercise every safeguard in the handling of state money. Certainly the circumstances referred to are not sound policies.

LABOR VOTE IS APPEALED FOR BY PRESIDENT

as much as possible between now and the election.

The Pacific coast trip still is in the balance. Republican leaders refuse to admit that the tour is definitely off, lending some credence to reports the president will make it a final gesture for the vote of the far west.

It would be entirely possible, of course, for the president to speak at Detroit or elsewhere in that area next week end, in New York the following Saturday, Oct. 28, and then proceed on out to California on a strategic windup which would put him at his home in Palo Alto on the eve of the election.

These are just a few of the considerations now before the president and his political advisers. All are being given careful thought and no suggestion is being definitely cast aside until they see how the wind blows.

At Cleveland the president appealed for the labor vote and denounced his Democratic opposition for allegedly false charges against the scope of the relief and economic programs of his administration.

He blamed the Democrats for sponsoring legislation he charged would have ruined the country and for the first time took direct issue with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee.

He defended the Republican protective tariff policy and answered the challenge of the Democrats to reply to their charges his three years and more in office had failed to bring out a program which would aid the nation. The president detailed the "12 point" program with which the depression has been fought.

Aside from a direct attack on Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, he made a vigorous defense of the Smoot-Hawley tariff. He said that had it not been for this the country would be in even a more serious condition. Unemployment would be almost universal, he said. The country would be flooded with foreign agricultural and industrial products.

For the first time in his campaign, he vigorously denied reports of his foreign activities in China, and gave the lie to the statement that he had employed Chinese coolie labor in South Africa.

Charges Denied

He said:

"I should like to digress for a moment to a more personal matter. In my hands I have a copy of the instructions issued by the Democratic national committee to their speakers. I find a paragraph referring to 'my dark labor record.' I am glad that it is neither pink nor red. But they say: 'First and indelible, his early record is clouded by his former partnerships which contracted cheap Chinese coolie labor,' and implies that I engaged in slavery of human beings."

This calumny has been disproved and denounced time and again.

"I happen to have in the files in Washington from the man who first penned those lies, a statement under oath humbly and abjectly withdrawing them.

"Such contemptible statements in a political campaign would be ignored were it not that they were issued by the authority of the Democratic National Committee."

He added it would be of no interest except that the party is attempting to get into power on a statement of this kind instead of some constructive measure.

He made a strong defense of his activities during the last three years, and said the country had never required more constructive statesmanship.

He said the Democratic majority promised a program for reconstruction, but did not disclose it until eighteen months afterwards. He said this program had to be stopped either by a veto of the Republican majority in the Senate.

Rests on Record

He denounced the so-called $1,200,000,000 pork barrel bill, the soldiers cash bonus, and the issuance of $2,200,000,000 in old fashioned greenbacks. He charged they would have increased government expenditures by $3,500,000,000.

He said in conclusion:

"We are willing to rest our case upon comparison with those records of actual performance—not upon promises."

The president said the Democrats are "going up and down the land, asserting the depression was caused by wild speculation and compounded with the tariff bill." He implied the speculation originated in New York, and should have been curbed by Governor Roosevelt. On the subject of the tariff, he charged the opposition with gross ignorance.

He added:

"Any party which exhibits such a lack of economic understanding on which to base national political policies, should not be trusted with the fate of 25,000,000 American families. They should not be trusted to command the battle against the most gigantic economic emergency with which our people have ever been confronted."

His speech in part follows:

"I spoke at Des Moines about agriculture. My remarks this evening will be largely directed to employment and to the wage and salary earners.

Terrible Shock

"During the past three years our economic system has received the most terrific shock and dislocation which, had not strong action been taken by your Government, would have imperiled the republic and the whole hope of recovery.

"But fearing that the resources of individuals of the local communities and states were being exhausted, I settled with the Congress an authority to be given to the Reconstruction Corporation to loan a total of $300,000,000 to those states whose needs might be found greater than the voluntary associations and local authorities could provide.

"I had great difficulties with Democratic leaders to prevent this being made a pork barrel operation, rather than based upon need.

"Indeed, that authority, many millions have already been provided.

There should be no fear or apprehension at any deserving American firebrand that starvation or cold will creep within their doors to menace families and loved ones over the forthcoming winter.

Sheriff's officers arrested Jose Honquin, 36, of Cypress, on a driving drunk charge Saturday night. His companion was Filiberto Montillano, 32, who was charged with being drunk. Undersheriff C. W. Riddle and Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Art Eells made the arrests.

The possemen then opened fire on the negroes, killing four of them and probably fatally wounding a fifth. Judge Crawford, Aige Crawford, a son, and another son of Crawford, and Tom Scott, a son-in-law of Crawford, died of their wounds. Annie Crawford, the wife, was expected to die.

Sheriff C. A. Williams, father of the slain deputy, was leader of the posse searching for the negro Williams.

A deputy said "no investigation is being made" in the shooting of the five.

Bloodhounds had been brought from Clarksdale, Miss., to aid in the search for Williams.

The negro is reported to have seized Deputy Williams' gun when the officer sought information about a negro woman. After the slaying Williams returned to his home to obtain a pistol.

Local Briefs

Regular business is expected to be transacted by the city council at its meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers. Nothing important is scheduled to come up before the council, according to Mayor Paul Witmer.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Orange County Builders' Exchange will be held in the Exchange building and headquarters here at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night, it was announced today by Frederic Sanford, secretary-manager.

Mrs. Geraldine Beall, president of the city council P.T.A., will be the speaker at the meeting of Franklin school P.T.A. to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the school. All interested are invited to attend.

FATALITIES IN ORANGE COUNTY HIT 70 MARK

COUNTRY BANKS DEPOSITS SHOW HEAVY INCREASE

Country banks depositing with Security-First National bank of Los Angeles have increased their deposits more than 50 per cent since March 1, according to an announcement today by Frank J. Was, manager of the Santa Ana branch.

Substantially improved conditions in the farming districts is considered responsible for the increased deposits. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has enabled country banks to realize on sound loans, and the marketing of fall crops and the liquidation of indebtedness by farmers have tended to relieve the credit situation.

"Today the country banker has both the means and the inclination to maintain more normal deposits with his city correspondent. Some time ago public fear and apprehension, and the inability of farmers to repay their obligations, forced country banks to reduce their balance with city depositaries. Conditions are considerably improved now," Was said, and the business outlook for agricultural districts generally in the Southwest has shown improvement.

Howard with Morgan Williams, who was in a car which turned over twice in Canyon, on September 24, Williams reported the front wheel of their machine struck a rock throwing the car off the road. It ran up an embankment and then turned over twice.

Both boys were able to get up from the wreckage and neither believed they were hurt. They proceeded to their homes. The following day, Howard was taken to Orange county hospital, where he underwent an operation. His condition has not been good since that time.

The body was removed to the McAulay and Suter Funeral Parlor at Fullerton, where Coroner Earl Abbey has called an inquest for 10 a.m. tomorrow.

No report of the crash had ever been made to authorities here.

ECKLES CUTS RATES ON SCHOOL BUSSES

Falling in line with the economy program adopted this year by the Santa Ana board of education, C. H. Eckles, who holds the contract for operating city school busses has voluntarily cut the cost of transportation of students.

Several months ago Eckles notified the board of education that if the board would extend his contract for two more years that he would immediately put into effect a 12 1/2 per cent reduction in the contract for this year. The proposition has been accepted by the board and the contract was signed recently.

The contract under which the busses were being operated has one more year of existence. Eckles pointed out that under the new law school busses must be equipped with safety glass and other safety features. To install these features he wanted assurance that the contract would be renewed at the date of expiration. The reduction was offered as consideration for preparation of a new contract.

COLLINS BUSY ON CONGRESS DRIVE

Back at his office today from a visit to San Bernardino desert sections, District Attorney Sam L. Collins, Republican candidate for congress in the nineteenth district, reported to Collins-for-Congress headquarters here, that he found active organizations functioning in behalf of his candidacy and all candidates on the Republican ticket in that area.

For the remainder of the week, Collins, accompanied by members of the Riverside county Republican central committee, will go into the smaller communities of that county, returning from time to time to look after the work of his office, to attend major political rallies and to fill speaking dates.

Police News

John Petinger, 43, was arrested late Saturday afternoon and lodged in the county jail on a vagrancy charge, after officers said they found him begging on the street.

T. C. Van Dorn, of 1066 West First street, was booked at the jail Saturday night by police officers, on a charge of drunkenness and investigation of assault. Mrs. Isabel Squires made the complaint, but nothing has been done with the case so far today.

Luis Byron Smith, 33, of San Luis Obispo, was arrested there Saturday on a bench warrant for Justice Kenneth Morrison's court where he is wanted in connection with a non support case. He was returned here by Deputy Sheriff Fred J. Humiston.

Picnics and Reunions

WEST VIRGINIA

There will be a picnic reunion of the West Virginians combined with McGuffey Society of Southern California, in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, Saturday, October 22, 1932. All West Virginians and all who ever studied any of the McGuffey Readers or other books from any state are invited. Bring your picnic lunch, enjoy a brief program of West Virginia songs and of readings from the McGuffey readers. President Henry P. Maxwell will be in charge of the program.

VOTERS TO HEAR EXPLANATION OF PROPOSALS

PHYSICIAN BUYS LARGE HOME ON RIVERSIDE DRIVE

Proof of an increased activity in Santa Ana real estate was furnished today in the announcement that Dr. Melbourn Mabes has purchased the Reeves Aylmore home at 2415 Riverside Drive. A total of $12,500 was involved in the deal, made by Mel Trickey, real estate broker. The deal was a cash transaction.

Voters who wish to have some understanding of the proposals on which they must express their desires on November 8 are reminded that there will be an opportunity tomorrow evening to hear these measures discussed pro and con for public information.

The League of Women Voters and the Y.M.C.A. are co-operating in offering a public discussion of the ballot proposal which will be staged at the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock and which is open to the general public. A number of well known speakers will present the arguments on which voters may base their decisions.

The proposal relating to mortgages and trust deeds will be discussed by W. Maxwell Burke, speaking in favor, and Homer Chaney, opposing it. Baxter Geeting will talk on the proposals relating to liquor laws, with especial emphasis on the repeal of the Wright Law, proposed as No. 1 on the ballot.

The proposed changes in taxation for school purposes will be presented by F. L. Thurston, secretary of the California Teachers association, and arguments against the measure will be offered by L. K. King, the Huntington Beach tideland drilling question will be debated by D. R. White and J. H. McKinnon, both of Huntington Beach. Frank Harwood will discuss the proposed legalization of racing. Mrs. Carl Mock will lead the discussion on the constitutional amendments.

Mrs. J. D. Campbell, of the League of Women Voters, will preside over the meeting. Both men and women are urged to attend and gain a better understanding of what is involved in the various proposals to be voted on.

Accompanying the department commander will be his adjutant, George F. Hohler, also of Oakland, and probably others of his staff.

As a gesture of courtesy to the department commander, Commander Charles W. Winter of the local camp will request that he preside as master-of-arms for a number of newly elected recruits. Among the recruits are Major Earl B. Hawks, commander of the local chapter Disabled Veterans of the World War; Colonel John C. French, United States Army, retired; Arthur C. Hunt, of Santa Ana and John W. Lenox, now residing at Newport Beach.

The camp will also perfect arrangements for its participation in the Armistice Day celebration in Fullerton.

WILL ABANDON TRI-COUNTIES FOREST GROUP

by-laws to provide for an advisory committee from the three counties to meet with the association once a year. This will take the place of the Tri-Counties Reforestation committee.

The reason for this recommendation is the fact that other agencies, public and private, have in quite a degree absorbed the work of the committee according to members of the committee.

Dissolution of the Tri-Counties Reforestation committee is scheduled for next December when that group meets in Riverside. The initial steps for the action were taken last Thursday at a meeting of the group held at the Norcomian Club. At that session a resolution of dissolution was presented by G. A. Atwood of San Bernardino.

Following discussion of the proposal H. C. Head of Santa Ana offered a motion which provided that the matter of complete dissolution go over until the December meeting when the association will meet jointly with the Water Conservation association.

The Tri-Counties Reforestation association represents Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties. At the December session it is proposed to ask the Water Conservation association to revise its COLDS GO THROUGH 3 STAGES!

And They are Far Easier Stopped in the First than in the Second or Third!

A cold ordinarily passes through three stages—the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucus Secretion Stage. Relief is twice as easy in the first stage.

For prompt relief take a couple of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately upon catching cold. This will usually expel the cold overnight and thus prevent the spread of the infection within your system.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is effective because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels. Kills the cold germs and fever in the system. Relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. Contains no narcotics and produces no bad after effects. It is regarded the world over as the standard cold tablet. Comes in handy, pocket size box, cellophane-wrapped. For sale in every drug store in America. Make it your first-aid in all cases of colds and gripe.

POLICE JAIL SIX FOR INTOXICATION

Six men were arrested by Santa Ana police officers Saturday night on drunk charges.

Ned Walker and Ed Lewis, sailors, were arrested at the Municipal bowl where they went to attend the J. C. Saratoga football game. They were turned over to naval authorities.

Thomas Herrera, 25, of Westminster, was arrested on English street Saturday night. He was lodged in the county jail.

William Jurado, 19, of 115 Daisy street, was found drunk at a local dance, officers reported, and was arrested.

Arch Robinson, 44, of 519 East Fourth street, was arrested at Fourth and French streets and lodged in the county jail.

Hugh Galloway, of 245 French street, was arrested at 415 Fruit street at 7:50 p. m. Saturday, and taken to a cell in jail.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG — News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

TIGHT

One day recently 20 letters complaining against the Republican National Committee were received at the White House. They all wanted Hoover literature, speeches, posters, buttons. They said the National Committee had declined to furnish much of the requested stuff because it did not have sufficient funds.

The White House tried to care for the requests as best it could. It has no political funds either.

A Washington Republican figure stopped off in New York over Sunday. He called headquarters there for some information. Nobody was at work on the Sabbath. He fumed about it in high places here when he returned.

Lack of money is certainly the big thing wrong. The lack is greater than you know.

A West Virginia coal operator was called to the White House. He announced later that he was conferring about welfare funds. Actually he was summoned to talk about funds for Mr. Hoover's political welfare. He promised to get out among his friends at home to see what he could do. He was not optimistic.

These trivial circumstances disclose an inner situation which is hampering the big final drive. In 1926 Mark Hanna took a few million dollars and scared the country away from Bryan. This time there is neither Mark nor millions.

WORKER
If anyone has lain down on the job it is certainly not the president. He has broken his own all-time record for long hours since the campaign started to get hot. Nobody ever worked harder. Even medicine ball has been called off recently so he can get at his speeches.

The hardest thing for the president is writing a speech. He can build a bridge faster than he can select 300 words to his liking. He revises sometimes four and five times and then he is not satisfied.

LOANS?
Poor old Federal Government is in another rap on those R. F. C. relief loans. Word has gone down to the lobbyists here that repayment by the states need not be feared. The loans provide repayment into the Federal Good Roads aid fund beginning in 1935. Lobbyists interested in road building materials were planning to squawk. They thought the amount of the loans would be deducted from the fund because many states can hardly be expected to be out of the red by that time. That would cut the demand for road building materials.

The timorous ones were told to hold their horses. They were given to understand that congress might pass legislation, possibly along in 1934, waiving repayment of the loans. Or at least the legislation would prevent non-payments from interfering with road building programs.

Those at the helm realize the R. F. C. is a necessary state capitalistic scheme which will have a hard time collecting.

Most of the bank loans should be repaid. They are short term bargains. The farm loans likewise represent some values. But if the railroads and the states should find themselves able to pay any time soon the millennium will be said to have arrived.

SPUDS
If Al Smith affectionately called Roosevelt an "old potato," Roosevelt did not hear him. That fine touch appears to have been contributed by a publicity man with a fertile imagination.

If you dig deep enough you will find Roosevelt had no slight hint before their meeting as to how Smith was going to act. Smith kept his own counsel about his intentions.

McADOO
A good confidential survey from California reports Mr. Hoover's home state was much impressed by his Des Moines speech. The trip of Treasury Secretary Mills did not do much good. Three trends are noticed there: increased wet sentiment, more Democratic activity and a large mass of Hiram Johnson's friends ready to vote for Roosevelt. That makes it look like a walz for Roosevelt and probably McAdoo.

If Al Smith goes there he may be able to swing the state in line.

NOTES
The I. C. C. had heard nothing in the week about reducing rail rates on farm products as a temporary relief measure... Administration sources indicated that idea had been dropped as impossible... Mr. Hoover cannot make more speeches because it takes him so long to prepare them... He worked eight days on the Des Moines speech... It would take two days to read the material furnished him by the government departments.

FIESTA PROVES GREAT SUCCESS: 8000 ATTEND

GLAMOROUS and colorful, the first annual Fiesta del Oro, commemorating the period of hacienda days in California before the gold rush of 1849, was presented at the historic Derby ranch, the only remaining Spanish land grant in Orange county, north of Costa Mesa, yesterday.

Sponsored by the Costa Mesa post, American Legion, the fiesta, which yesterday was inaugurated as one of the outstanding annual events of the county, attracted a crowd of more than 8000 persons to the various events of the day.

Glittering Spanish and Mexican costumes vied with the historic apparel of trappers, miners, plainsmen, pioneers and cowboys for the interest of the great crowd which milled about the various feature exhibits and the race track.

A covered wagon entered by the Orange County Kill Willies, musical organization, was awarded first prize by judges as the most typical exhibit at the fiesta. Second prize went to the Irvine ranch for an exhibition of calf roping, branding and riding presented in the arena.

Select Queen

Faustina Lucero Cowman of Santa Ana, well known dancer, was crowned queen of the fiesta after judges had selected her from the group of contestants. She was crowned queen with ceremonies by Father Felix Marino of Santa Ana.

Following the selection of the queen, the queen and her attendants were escorted in honor around the race track in an old stage coach which was packed with plowneers and others in typical colorful costume.

In the center picture, gathered around an old six horse stage coach driven by Bill Lawrence of Oceanside, who holds the reins and the queen is Sol Gonzales, director of the Spanish Troubadors, who was attired in a gorgeous outfit of white satin and gold. Many other pioneers and well known characters are included in the picture.

The grand parade, headed by the queen in her coach, included another ancient stage coach, a covered wagon, cowboys and cowgirls, as well as many other interesting features.

Hundreds of pounds of beef were dug up out of deep barbecue pits which were used to cook the meat for the Spanish dinner served to thousands during the noon hour. Immediately after dinner, many tried their skill on a shooting range.

Two public address systems, one furnished by the Texaco company and another by the Nehi company, broadcast the music and track events during the fiesta.

Two Orchestras

Music for the event was furnished by the Spanish Troubadors, led by Sol Gonzales, the Orange County Kill Willies who played ranch and old time melodies, and a Hawaiian trio. At a dance pavilion, the Troubadors entertained with many special singing and dancing numbers in addition to the music.

Judges for the various events were Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs.

Vincent Yorba, Bolle Spangler, J. E. Seale, H. W. Whitney, William McPherson and Ted Hanson, Ralph McCutcheon of Huntington Beach, who was field marshal, ran the various events staged on the field without a hitch. Winners of horsemanship events were awarded prizes donated by Orange county merchants.

The day was not without narrow escapes from injuries. Two boys and a girl were injured, not seriously, however, when a horse crashed through a line of spectators during a race. Several riders suffered minor injuries in falls. Another tense moment came when the inside pair of horses in the six team stage coach team became excited but were controlled before any damage was done.

"Old Timers" Present

A number of distinctive persons were present at the fiesta. Bill Lawrence of Oceanside, who drove the same stage coach exhibited at the fiesta in the early days between northern Nevada and northern California, was present driving his coach.

E. F. Gaines was there driving his stage coach which was used around here and in the northern part of the state in 1859 when it ran between San Francisco and San Diego. At that time it took 46 hours to drive from Los Angeles to San Francisco. The Flint, Bixby and company line, which used the stage, retired in 1870.

Minnie Higgins of Huntington Beach, the first woman to be married in that city, was present in an old costume worn by her grandmother.

Model for Picture

Mrs. Josie Rice of Laguna Beach, made famous by posing for the picture, "Girl of the Golden West," painted by the world renowned artist, Louis Betz in 1914, was there in the same costume she wore at the time of the painting. Betz came to California from Chicago in search of a model for his picture and selected Mrs. Rice.

Pancho Serrano, 78, well known pioneer of El Toro, rode with the rest of the "boys" in the riding and roping events. He was born and raised in this county and won a fancy roping contest two years ago.

Ed Arterbury of Costa Mesa, who rode the plains with Buffalo Bill, was present at the fiesta.

L. C. Stilowen and John Willcox, members of the Legion committee in charge of the fiesta, were difficult to recognize in the costumes they wore.

Winners Listed

Winners of the specialty racing and horsemanship events staged on the race track and in the field during the afternoon are as follows:

Quarter mile cow pony race for men, Jimmie Williams; exhibit of paired horses, first, a pair of blacks owned by Dutch Boyd and John Wagner; second, a pair of grays owned by Keith Morse; third, a pair of yellows owned by Walter Lamb; fourth, a pair of whites owned by J. E. Seale.

Children's stake race, Don Thrall of Irvine; Art Jesley with Bud Lindoro; second and Hazel Whitehead third was the verdict of the judges, Juan Fuentes and J. F. Connley in the stock horse judging for performance of rein horses; men's cloths pin race, Eddie Evitt; women's in and out race, Hazel Whitehead; egg carrying race, Mary Frampton; walk, trot and run race, Gerald English.

Children's in and out race, Don Thrall; women carrying the mail race, Hazel Whitehead; lead, mount and ride race, Eddie Evitt; women's egg carrying race, Mary Frampton; men's stake race, Bill Goodman; children's pony race, Joe Atkins.

Three special events were staged

Another feature of the program was a talk about the British Isles and points of interest in Europe by Mrs. H. P. C. Beese, of Pasadena, teacher of English in the schools there.

At the conclusion of the program which was in charge of Mrs. J. A. Chewning, Mrs. Gilbert Goodell, of Fullerton, presented eight girls in classical dancing numbers.

At the business meeting which preceded the program, Mrs. Henri Clayton, president, presided.

Mrs. J. A. Chewning announced that tickets for the Halloween dance for October 29 were out.

Mrs. Shellhouse, of Laguna Beach, gave a brief talk concerning the P.T.A. magazine.

DUNTON TELLS OF FORD SALES HERE RECENTLY

Since June when volume deliveries of new Ford V-8 cars began, Ford has led all competitors by a wide margin in sales of passenger cars, commercial vehicles and trucks, according to official figures reported today by George Dunton, local Ford dealer.

Ford took the lead in national motor car sales in June, increased the lead in July, as production of the new Fords mounted, and maintained the lead throughout August, according to reports for that month already received from 34 states, Dunton declared. In addition to this, the latest reports also revealed that Ford led in sales in the largest cities during the first 10 days of September.

In June when volume deliveries of new Ford V-8 cars began, Ford cars were available, Ford's passenger car sales in the United States reached 35.9 per cent of the total, as compared with 24.9 per cent for its nearest competitor. Respective figures for Ford commercial cars were 50.5 per cent and 37.6 per cent for its nearest competitor, while Ford trucks represented 35.7 per cent of all truck sales, as compared with 27.6 per cent for the nearest competitor.

Ford passenger car sales in July reached 38.4 per cent of the total business as compared with 34.2 for its nearest competitor. Ford commercial cars were 54.4 per cent of all cars sold, giving Ford a greater percentage of the total business than all other manufacturers combined. The Ford share of national truck sales was 34.4 per cent as compared with 27.1 per cent for its nearest competitor.

The reporting of registrations in states, Ford sales again led the new Fords began in June, Ford has accounted for 42.8 per cent of all new passenger car sales in California, as compared with 18.1 per cent for its nearest competitor. Dunton added. Ford sold 911 of the total of 21,268 cars of all makes sold in the state in June, July and August. Ford commercial car and truck business was in excess of half of all the business.

In the four months of June to September, there were 112 passenger cars registered in Santa Ana, of which 65 or 58 per cent were Fords. The nearest competitor registered 8 cars during this period or 7.1 per cent.

Gets Suspended Sentence After Charge Reduced

John Howard Williams, who was arrested here several days ago by sheriff's officers on a charge of attempted grand theft, pleaded guilty to petty theft, on a reduced complaint in Judge Kenneth Morrison's court today.

He was arrested in the home of Mrs. R. W. Pickel, on East First street when he is asserted to have gone there to trade valuable stock with her.

The attempted grand theft charge did not "work out" and a petty theft charge was substituted. He was given a six months suspended jail sentence.

BULLDOGS, DUE FRIDAY, MAKE BID FOR TITLE

Five more games—all important, four of 'em with conference teams—yawned today in front of Santa Ana Hi's slowly improving football squad.

The first test comes Friday afternoon, at Poly field, against Pasadena's rejuvenated Bulldogs who haven't played a conference game but haven't lost after four non-league affairs with schools of unquestioned strength.

After Pasadena, Coach "Tex" Oliver moves his forces to San Diego October 29 where the 1932 Coast Preparatory league championship may be decided in the square-off between Hilltoppers and Saints. San Diego proved its mettle last Saturday by beating Alhambra's Moors, 12-7, scoring twice in the fourth quarter.

Santa Ana draws a bye after the San Diego excursion but resumes action Armistice Day (November 11) at Alhambra in another contest of vital importance. Play Glendale Thanksgiving Day.

Games with Fullerton here November 19, and at Glendale Thanksgiving Day (November 24) wind up the Saint schedule—unless Oliver's champions again win their divisional championship. Then the season will have hardly begun.

Passadena, of course, will be Santa Ana's first objective.

The Saint coaching staff had hoped to take the Bulldogs in stride, saving the real "build-up" for the San Diego invasion, but Pasadena's record, and more especially its 0 to 6 tie with Fullerton in a free-lance game Saturday, forces Oliver, Foote and Company to give Coach John Thurman's charges real consideration. Pasadena blanked Fullerton in a crippled condition, three regulars seeing no action at all, but had much the better of the argument. Fullerton stopped one attack on its 1-yard line, and staved off defeat by recovering a fumble another time.

Heavily favored, Coach Jess Mortenson's Riverside Tigers lost their opener, 12 to 6, to Pomona when Kora Keough, Cossack quarter, rammed 90 yards to a touchdown in the third period. The contest was played at Riverside.

The other upset took the form of a 12 to 6 victory which Al Clayes' Citrus Owls, previously defeated by Fullerton, won from Chaffey at Ontario. Van Vlet, off to a run similar to that made by Keough of Pomona, evaded several Panther tacklers on a 75-yard run to a score in the third quarter.

Oliver Scouts San Diego

Coach Oliver remained in San Diego over the week-end, scouting the Hilltoppers in their loose rear end of the fourth period.

With less than a minute of play remaining, Elmer Pryor, Fullerton's right halfback, punt to Sam Bernardino's 10-yard line. Thinking the ball had momentum enough to roll over the goal line, Willard Black Indian safety, allowed it to slip by him, and seeing that it wasn't going over, scooped it up, fumbling long enough to allow Charlie Still, visiting halfback, to recover. The Hornets, with Pryor lunging over right tackle, scored on the next play, and the game ended in the third quarter.

Compensating for its poor showing against San Bernardino, Santa Ana defeated the U. S. S. Saratoga, navy eleven, by a score of 26 to 6 at the Municipal Bowl Saturday night in a practice game. Coach Bill Cook's Dons, unexpectedly defeated 7 to 6 by Sam Bernardino in their first game, meet Pomona in their second conference start.

Late News From Orange County Communities

BREAK GROUND FOR NEWPORT BEACH CHURCH

Revival Of Trotter To Start Soon

PLACENTIA, Oct. 17.—Through agreement with the Orange County Laymen's Evangelistic association, the tabernacle that has been used to house the John Brown meetings and is now standing at Santa Ana, is to be moved to the vacant property south of Calvary church in readiness for revival meetings to be held soon under Mel Trotter, famous mission worker.

Men of the church are asked to meet at the church at 8 a. m. Tuesday with trucks to move the materials, and again on Thursday to erect the building. Women of Dorcas society of the church will serve dinner for the workers Thursday.

G. O. P. RALLY IS STAGED IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 17.—Frank Collins, newspaper publisher of San Marino, was the principal speaker at the Republican rally held in the Garden Grove Woman's Civic clubhouse Saturday evening praising the administration of President Hoover.

Mr. Collins was assistant to the U. S. attorney general for about 12 years prior to the Wilson administration and told of existing conditions during that time.

He spoke on the tariff protection, emphasizing how the tariff protects the California farmers, and a revising would work a hardship on all as growers cannot compete with the standards of living of other countries. Literature, buttons and stiches were distributed.

State Senator Nels Edwards, of Orange, Assemblyman Ted Craig, Brea; James Utt, of Tustin, and Tom Talbert, of Huntington Beach, gave short speeches.

Irvine German entertained with several violin selections accompanied at the piano by Mrs. German.

Clyde Newton, Orange; G. La Vines, of Huntington Beach and William Morrell, of Garden Grove, members of the Republican Central committee, were introduced.

Meetings of the Republican clubs were announced for tonight at the Anaheim Elks club, October 18, at the Oceanview school and October 28 at Huntington Beach. A meeting at Garden Grove will be held in the near future, the date to be announced later.

Walnut Plant In Mission City To Close Next Week

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Oct. 17.—The packing house of the California Walnut Growers' association will close in about a week, according to C. E. Crumrine, manager. The season opened September 1. The local crop this season total 190 tons, which is an increase of about 50 tons over last year. Walnuts grown in this section are of exceptionally good quality, the groves here being from 18 to 20 years old and well cared for.

Church Society Plans Luncheon

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 17.—An all day meeting of the Baptist Missionary society was held in the church bungalow recently. The morning was spent in sewing and repairing garments for the needy.

Following a pot luck luncheon Mrs. C. K. Lee was in charge of the program on "Stewardship."

Mrs. P. M. German presided at the business session and plans were made for serving the dinner to the Men's Brotherhood Tuesday evening.

PASTOR MAKES CHEST APPEAL WITH SERMON

A sound picture preceded the subject for the sermon of Perry Frederick Schrock at the First Congregational church last evening. This church has used motion pictures regularly for the past 15 years. Recently sound equipment was installed in place of the silent motion picture equipment which was previously used.

The sound picture for last night was entitled "Satan's Playground." It was a picture of Death Valley and its title suggested the sermon by Mr. Schrock. He said in part:

"To think of Death Valley as Satan's playground does not cause us any anxiety. That would seem to be a very good place for Satan to live. He couldn't do much damage there amidst the sage brush and rattlesnakes. But if Santa Ana should become the playground of his Satanic majesty we might feel that it was a very much more serious matter."

"It seems to me that there is very grave danger of just that thing happening. That is, there is a real danger that the forces of evil and destruction, which we symbolize by the name Satan, may gain possession of our fair city."

"Conditions are ripe for it. Here we have our great number of boys and girls. They are fine boys and girls but they live in a world that offers more temptations and opportunities for loose living than we older folks ever imagined when we were young. These boys and girls need help and guidance. They need to have their leisure time filled with that which is good and wholesome and they need directing and counsel from wise and sympathetic leaders."

"Here in our city, as everywhere else, are the great numbers of unemployed people. They are idle through no fault of their own. They have been patient and law abiding. But it would not be surprising if that patience should wear out. Something must be done to help these people through this difficult time."

"Satan finds mischief still for idle hands to do. When one thinks of our great company of youth and the number of necessarily immature folks, it does not require much effort to imagine that Santa Ana might become Satan's playground."

"It is equally easy to imagine Santa Ana as 'God's workshop.' Suppose the young people are given the good and wholesome things to do, under wise and sympathetic leadership; suppose the city does help these unemployed people through this difficult time, what then would happen? There would be built here a quality of life that could be accurately described as God's workshop."

"That is just what our Community Chest is for. The various agencies of the Chest are engaged in doing these two things — helping youth lead wholesome and upright lives and helping the unemployed bear a burden that they simply cannot bear alone. The 11 troops of Boy Scouts in Santa Ana means that there are probably 200 boys engaged in the wholesome activities of scouting and are trying to live up to the ideals of that organization."

"The 1500 boys who received free service at the Y. M. C. A. — gymnasium, swimming, games, clubs, etc.—have had something that was fine and uplifting for their leisure time. The same is true of the great company of girls who were ministered to by the Y. W. C. A."

"More than half of the Community Chest budget goes for help to the needy. This is fine and right. Some of this money goes for Ruth Home, an institution that cares for girls who have gone astray and who needed to be restored to physical and moral health. That is a necessary service. But how much better it is to throw about the girl such influence that she will never need to have to go to such a place as Ruth Home."

"Your gift and my gift to the Community Chest is to help make Santa Ana God's workshop and to keep it from becoming Satan's playground."

"PEACE" TOPIC FOR SERMON AT ARMY CITADEL

Finding the lesson subject in Isaiah 26, Adjutant F. S. Gartrell spoke yesterday in the Salvation Army Citadel, South Sycamore street on the subject "Peace."

In his sermon he said in part: "In our lesson this morning, we have a very beautiful and wonderful song, and the theme of this song is perfect peace. Now, we notice that this song is a song of victory: 'In that day shall this song be sung in the land of Judah, we have a strong city, salvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks.' This peace brings to us security. It brings to us a divine keeper, because our minds are stayed upon God so we understand the workings of God and we know that all things will work together for good to them that love and trust Him, because we have proven that in our experience!"

"Now, we want to get the right idea of this perfect peace. Two artists painted a picture to illustrate perfect peace. The first one took a still lake, sheltered from storm and winds, without a ripple on its surface. This was his conception of peace. The other threw upon his canvas a thundering waterfall, with a small tree overhanging it, and there in the tree, almost wet with the spray, was a tiny Robin, perfectly happy and peaceful. This was the other artist's conception of peace. The first was stagnation! It was not a real picture of peace. The other was the idea that we wish to get out of peace!"

He said in part: "The Apostles' Creed is the declaration of our faith. That is the reason we stand when we recite the Creed, as a soldier stands at attention when he pledges allegiance to his country. The Creed is a personal belief; we do not say 'We believe in God' but 'I believe in God.' We should always think of the meaning of the Creed as we recite it or the declaration will be merely empty words."

"Human nature has not changed since the Creed was formulated. The vices that existed then exist today, and the condition of our world at present is due to human failings. To overcome these, we must have a creed, which, if we truly believe and practice it, will bring great peace, because His enemies were after Him in the streets of Jerusalem. He turned to His disciples and gave them a wonderful legacy 'Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you.' Not only to the disciples of that day, but right down the ages to us in this day, it comes."

"We need men who will work, go out and do, to bring peace to this world! We find the country is upset from one end to the other, that people are killing one another, and the reason for this is because the people have forgotten God, their minds are not stayed upon Him."

MINISTER PRAISES COMMUNITY CHEST

Speaking on the subject, "The Duty of Being Informed," the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, urged his morning congregation yesterday to aid the Community Chest work in every way possible, to vote "No" on propositions 1 and 2 on the November ballot, and to support the Eighteenth amendment.

He characterized the Chest as a wise plan to care for needs of the community and requested the church to do its part in soliciting and giving.

In commenting on the attack being made on the Wright act, he declared, "If the Wright act is repealed the racketeers and gangsters will come in from Chicago and New York, and then you will be giving to them more than you do to the Community Chest."

The Eighteenth amendment he characterized as the purest thing that had ever gone into the constitution. "Those who do not think righteously are the ones who are disturbed about it," he said. "I ask you to arise and of the two evils choose the lesser when you vote."

Co-operation In Soul Winning, Is Pastor's Theme

Rev. Grover Ralston, pastor of the First Methodist church, Garden Grove, spoke Sunday morning on the topic, "Cooperation in Soul-winning."

He said in part: "One of the factors which broke the German morale during the great war was the fact that the German people realized that America could and was mobilizing 10,000,000 men to be rushed upon the bloody fields of France. You give me 50 young men who are out and out for Christ and let them earnestly and uprightly support this Christian program of the Methodist church and I'll tell you we can do more in cleansing this country of its sin, its wickedness, and its hell than 500 police with machine guns, and bullets, and tear gas bombs."

"Not reflecting on the efficiency of the police departments or sheriff's office, the Lord knows we have to have a strong law enforcement organization, but brother and sister, we have been trying to shoot people and scare them."

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—plumpness—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c—Adv.

OR ANARCHY, LIBERTY OR LICENSE ON TWO MEASURES

Asserting that the first two propositions on the November ballot, No. 1 seeking repeal of the Wright act and No. 2 seeking to establish exclusive state control of liquor sale in the event changes should be made in the prohibition law—are questions of law and order and patriotism, J. F. Burke, Santa Ana publisher, addressed the Men's Community Bible class yesterday on these two ballot measures.

"The genius of a nation is the heritage of the world, just as the genius of an individual is the heritage of the nation," he declared. "The heritage of the world from Rome was law; from Greece, art; from Palestine, religion; and from America it is liberty—but liberty under law. We have either liberty of license, law or anarchy, and these questions before us are questions of law and order and patriotism in line with America's heritage to the world."

"Repeal of California's Wright act would mean a change in the character of its citizens. It would mean that many who plan to come to this state would change their minds. It would change the type of people who would want to live in California."

Age Old Fight

The speaker termed the efforts to change the state law as a phase of an age old battle against the evils of alcoholic beverages and said that in the light of science, religion and the home there had been particular stress placed on the question in the last 150 years and that America had finally determined the way to meet it nationally was through prohibition.

He reviewed the growth of the movement against the traffic from city and county local option to state restriction and finally to the successful attempt to get national legislation to protect the dry territory from invasion by the wets.

"We have always found that the liquor interests refused to obey law," he declared. "They rode iron heel over majority law to exploit human weakness for gain."

Only Law On Subject

"The first section of the Eighteenth amendment prohibits the manufacture, importation or exportation of alcoholic beverages from all territory under control of the federal government. The second section says congress and the states shall have concurrent jurisdiction. In this state the Wright act adopted the Volstead act to the state making the federal law the law of the state. It is the only law we have for the protection of dry territory and the punishment of those who would violate the law."

"The first proposition on the ballot at the coming election would withdraw California from enforcement of the law and turn it all over to the national government. As far as California is concerned if the repeal is accomplished it would handcuff the officers and grant privilege to a special class of violators. It would withhold the state officers from making men obey the law."

HOW INSULL EMPIRE CRASHED

Fifty Year
Effort Ends
In 50 Days

By ROBERT TALLEY

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Samuel Insull's climb to control of a public utilities empire that was worth $4,000,000,000 at its high tide required 50 years.

His fall took just about that many days.

On April 15, 1932, Insull's vast Middle West Utilities Company, operating in 32 states, went into receivership. On June 6, the 73-year-old Napoleon of power abdicated.

He resigned as chairman of the Commonwealth Edison Company, the People's Gas, Light & Coke Company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, three of the largest utility operating companies in the world.

He resigned as one of the receivers of Middle West Utilities. He resigned from 65 chairmanships, 85 directorates and 11 presidencies. For three hours Insull sat at his desk signing resignations.

Little Left

When Samuel Insull finally laid aside his pen he had nothing left but three yearly pensions of $6000 each, granted him by his major operating companies.

The last days of empire saw a vastly different Samuel Insull from the hard-headed, autocratic financial tyrant to whom nobody in Chicago had dared say "No."

There is no mystery about Insull's downfall. The real mystery is how he managed to keep his fantastic pyramid of holding companies standing as long as he did in the face of the worst stock market decline in history.

Insull had fought desperately. He had thrown in his own $100,000,000 fortune. In perhaps the most hectic chapter of frenzied finance in history, he manipulated, borrowed, loaned, exchanged millions of dollars between his various companies in a manner that now has given auditors one of the most intricate and complicated financial tangles on record.

He saddled stock on his employees and ordered them to go out and sell it. He borrowed heavily from banks—millions on millions of dollars.

A Sudden Crash

In the years when he was building his giant chain, Insull had been called "the greatest money raiser in history." In the end this ability proved his undoing. For he contracted such burdens of debt for his investment companies that they eventually collapsed under their own weight.

When the end came, Insull went down with his ship. Chicagoans tell you they are certain he lost every dime he had.

The crash came, with deadly swiftness. In brief, here is the story:

Last spring, Middle West Utilities Co. found itself unable to meet $10,000,000 in short term notes.

Insull frantically appealed to New York bankers . . . but, at last, his credit had dried up. He could get no more money.

So a Chicago printing firm, to which the $3,000,000,000 Middle West Utilities owned an $8000 bill, threw this industrial giant into receivership and the far-flung Insull empire toppled.

Middle West was the cornerstone on which the Insull pyramid rested.

One by one, the other tightly-interlaced holding companies dragged each other down.

Among the first to fall were the great superholding companies, Insull Utility Investments and Corporation Securities, Inc., which capped the peak of the pyramid.

$160 to 12½ Cents

Insull Utility Investments Co. hit $160 a share in 1929, dropped to a low of 12½ cents in 1932. Recently there has been a little speculative buying at 25 cents a share.

Corporation Securities, Inc., was sold in 1930 in $101 stock units, at which time the price of one share of common was $28.25. Its 1932 low was 12½ cents a share; latest data shows this stock offered "at the market"—and no takers.

It is important to bear in mind that these are security holding companies. The operating companies that Insull's genius built before he turned to high finance are,

STOCK TOOK LONG DIVE

Below is a certificate for 100 shares of stock in Insull Utility Investments, Inc., one of Samuel Insull's two great super-holding companies. At peak prices of 1929, this 100-share certificate was worth $16,000. Then it dropped to 12½ cents per share. It was last offered at about 25 cents a share, with no bidders. At right is Samuel Insull as he appeared at the peak of his power, on his 70th birthday in 1929.

They represented control of the great Insull domain.

Losses in Millions

When, the other day, auditors for the receivers of Insull Utility Investments completed a five-month examination of the books, they reported this condition had existed as of April 16:

Insull Utility Investments was hopelessly insolvent. It owed nine times as much as it owned. It had $27,473,364 of assets with which to pay $253,984,341 liabilities, a deficit of $226,500,000.

The reason for all this was clear. The auditors balance sheet showed this investment trust held securities for which it had paid $237,892,050 and which, at current prices, had a market value of $30,404,267, a shrinkage of more than $207,000,000.

As yet, there is no auditor's report on Corporation Securities, Inc. The latest available data is the company's balance sheet of Dec. 31, 1931. This showed investments with a book value of $145,457,706 and a current market value of $33,970,252, a shrinkage of more than $111,000,000.

It is interesting, in this connection, to note what happened to prices of the most important Insull security issues.

Middle West Utilities common soared to a high of $570 a share in 1929, was then split 10-for-1 and came to a rest at $50. The 1932 low on this stock was 12 1/2 cents a share; recent quotations, largely speculative, have boosted it to about 37½ cents.

It is important to bear in mind that these are security holding companies. The operating companies that Insull's genius built before he turned to high finance are,

U.S. ARMY BOMBERS TO BASE
AT EDDIE MARTIN'S AIRPORT
FOR MANEUVERS THIS WEEK

Three bombing squadrons of the United States Army air force will be based at the Eddie Martin Airport this week while conducting a series of training maneuvers here and off Ft. McArthur, near San Pedro. The squadrons to be based here during the maneuvers are stationed at March Field and have been sent here for a series of tests proving the adequacy of land air forces for coast defense.

During the entire week a detachment of approximately 75 enlisted men and officers will be stationed at the airport, living there under actual war conditions. Early morning training flights will be made in addition to the bombing cruises. The public is invited to visit the camp during the week.

The first detachment arrived yesterday and set up tents, disposed of supplies and started loading bombs. These bombs are filled with sand and will be dropped upon a moving target to be towed 1000 feet behind a destroyer, 10,000 yards off Point McArthur.

A business session was held in the morning. Several members volunteered to assist Mrs. C. C. Violett in measuring materials for Red Cross work.

A luncheon was served at 12 o'clock to 20 members. Mrs. F. A. Monroe and Mrs. Harvey Newsom were hostesses. The tables were decorated with lovely red chrysanthemums.

Wedding Anniversary
Occurrences Surprise Party

Damascus White Shrine members who attended the meeting of the organization held Friday evening in Masonic temple, availed themselves of the opportunity to compliment Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Vinson on the occasion of their 17th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Vinson, worthy high priestess, and James Tarpley, watchman of shepherds, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Vinson wore a corsage of gardenias, the gift of Mr. Tarpley, and at her station was a basket of flowers provided by Mrs. Tarpley.

The many guests in attendance included supreme officers, one of whom was Mrs. Lillie D. Graff, deputy supreme worthy high priestess, who was escorted east.

Mother of the Shrine, Mesdames Emily Northrup, A. W. Getchel and Elsie Bolling, were presented with corsage bouquets from the gardens of Mrs. Delta Maude Ryan. This was the first meeting which Mrs. Northrup had been able to attend for some time, as she had been confined to her home with illness.

Mrs. Amanda Holmes, another Shrine mother, recently was called east because of her son's illness, but is expected to return home soon.

During the business session, Mrs. Julian Easel, Mrs. Laura Kestemann and Charles Ryan were initiated into the Shrine. The ceremonial was made doubly impressive by Mrs. Norris Wright of Immanuel Shrine of Huntington Park, who gave vocal solo in the absence of Damascus Shrine's soloist.

Announcement was made of a Hallowe'en dance to be held Friday evening, October 28 in Masonic temple. Mrs. Nye Martin and her orchestra will provide music for the dancing. There will be cards for those wishing to play. The public is invited to attend the affair, which is under the general supervision of Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. W. G. Lewis, president of White Shrine Circle, announced a meeting for Tuesday evening, November 8 at 8:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. W. R. McConnell, 1218 Orange avenue. Mrs. C. E. Morse, Mrs. P. N. Chapin and Mrs. George Hubbard will be assisting hostesses.

Details of the refreshment hour had been arranged as a special compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Vinson, suspended over the large table was a white wedding bell. On the table were miniature bride and bridegroom, the handwork of Mrs. Elizabeth Price, and white nutcups with tiny wedding bells marked each place. Officers and members had planned this feature as a surprise to the honored guests.

Mrs. Jane Morse was general chairman, with Mrs. Stella Whisenan, Mrs. Nell Pagenkopf, Mrs. Pearl McMillan, Mrs. Elizabeth Kloess, Mrs. Rosa Meyer, Mrs. Julian Dawson and Miss B. Pearl Nicholson assisting. Mrs. James Tarpley and the officers had made the nutcups, and Mrs. Delta Maude Ryan, noble prophetess, had made the white bells.

After refreshments had been served, Mr. and Mrs. Vinson were showered with handkerchiefs. Mrs. Jane Morse presented the honored guests with a home made angel food cake.

Relief Corps

Will Join Parade

The Sedgwick Women's Relief corps last week unanimously accepted an invitation from the American Legion post to participate in the Armistice Day parade at Anaheim next month.

A public dinner, scheduled for October 26, was planned during the business meeting, when the relief committee reported 40 calls and 25 bouquets sent to the sick. An interesting letter was read from one of the corps' adopted soldiers who is confined in a hospital.

Mrs. Tee, president of the Costa Mesa W. R. C., and her staff of officers were presented and gave brief talk. Mrs. Bertha Thompson, senior vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Estelle Gray. Forty members and 13 officers were in attendance.

ATTRACTIVE BRIDES CHOOSE
END OF WEEK FOR NUPTIALS

This particular week end seemed especially favored by Dan Cupid, and several unusually interesting nuptial events were solemnized in this city, or perhaps in some other Southland community with Santa Ana girl as bride. Miss Marion Thompson of Los Angeles, daughter of a family which has played prominent part in Orange county affairs for many years, returned here to be wedded in the home of her aunt and namesake, Mrs. P. J. Hatzfeld. Miss Lucille Bales, former Santa Ana girl, was married in the Wee Kirk O' the Heather, Glendale, while in the Stevenson home on South Garnsey street, Miss Ida Stump of Los Angeles, was a pretty bride.

CHERRY-THOMPSON RITES — Francisco the couple will come south to establish residence in Santa Ana.

Saturday's service was attended by a large number of Santa Ana friends who heard the vows between bride and bridegroom repeated before Dr. W. C. Roberts, pastor of the West Adams Presbyterian church of Los Angeles and a former pastor of Santa Ana First Presbyterian church.

The church was unadorned for the rites, its natural beauty forming a fitting background for the marriage. Before the wedding party's entrance several vocal selections were offered by Sallie Lee Scales of Orange to comprise a musical prologue, Mrs. Scales singing "At Dawn" and "Because," to the accompaniment of Miss Ruth Armstrong of Santa Ana, who played an earlier medley of old fashioned airs.

All-Pink Theme — Sister Attends Bride

Since pink is the bride's own special favorite in colors, her wedding was based on the rosy theme, and friends of the family had delighted in sending every pink flower that could be culled from autumn gardens to augment those of the Hatzfeld home. Dahlias, chrysanthemums, zinnias and quantities of roses, were massed about the home, while in the drawing room where the rites were held, the graceful sprays of antigonion vine created a striking effect in the soft glow of many rose-hued tapers.

At the altar suggested by the kneeling bench and the wreathed antigonion, were tall candles also in pink, and there Miss Thompson was given in marriage by her father, with whom she entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin, played by Miss Berenice Aumel, a cousin of the bridegroom.

Entry of Bride

Gowned in shell pink chiffon, the bride was giddily lovely. The flowing lines of her gown, the smart little hat of delicate pink velvet, and the great cluster of pink roses and gardenias, were all charming details of her appearance. She wore also the crystals which were Mr. Cherry's wedding gift, and took care to observe in her costume that time-honored bridal saying of "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue."

Honeymoon in North

While in the north the new Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will be guests of Mr. Anderson's brother, Travis Anderson, in Berkeley.

Local Graduate

Following graduation from the Santa Ana high school the bride took university work at Oregon State college at Corvallis, where she became affiliated with Chi Omega sorority. Before moving to Riverside with her family this summer Mrs. Anderson took an important part in Junior Ebell society projects.

Mr. Anderson, who also received his diploma from the Santa Ana high school, later completed courses at the University of California at Berkeley, where he was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. At present he holds a position as office manager of the Commercial Credit company of Los Angeles.

Bride Tosses Bouquet

Later in the evening when the young couple departed for Los Angeles, Mrs. Cherry tossed her bridal bouquet which was captured by Miss Aumel, who had played the nuptial music. For her demure the bride was gowned in green and brown, the popular autumn color combination. Her mother, Mrs. Michael Thompson, chose soft green Canton crepe while Mrs. Alice Harris was gowned in printed chiffon for the nuptials of her only granddaughter. Mrs. Hatzfeld, the hostess, chose flowing chiffon whose dominant color was pink. Mrs. Frank E. Cherry, mother of the groom, wore soft blue flat crepe.

Home in Inglewood

Mr. and Mrs. Cherry were to go at once to the pretty home awaiting them near Inglewood, whose furnishing had given their relatives and friends so much pleasure in the past few weeks. Mr. Cherry is connected with his father in the hardware business and also is a commercial artist of much success, working with various large department stores of Los Angeles. His bride has lived the greater part of her life in Los Angeles and has been attending the University of California at Los Angeles since her graduation from high school.

ANDERSON-BALES WEDDING

Wedded in the Wee Kirk O' the Heather in Glendale at six o'clock Saturday evening, Miss Lucille Bales, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Redmond W. Bales of 3830 Adams street, Riverside, formerly of this city, and Stanley G. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Anderson of Garden Grove had departed for the north as bride and bridegroom today. Following a two weeks' honeymoon in San Diego, they will follow in the Masonic temple.

A group of charming young hostesses as heart might wish greeted many guests at the Y. W. clubhouse Saturday afternoon, when High School Girl Reserves too attracted a large crowd to enjoy the delightful musical program planned by the Reserves, and the other details of their hospitality.

This hospitality manifested itself at the very entrance to the clubrooms, for sprays of cotoneaster festooned the stairway and prepared arriving guests for the charming autumn scene to meet their eyes within the big assembly room itself. Guests were grouped in friendly foursomes around small tables upon whose white linen covers were scattered autumn leaves. Centering each table was a bright orange and green basket of fruits whose brilliant hues were repeated in the background of leaves, flowers and vines.

This manner of seating the guests emphasized the friendly informality of the afternoon, and made the ensuing program more like a musical given in a private home. At each place were orange programs of clever design, and no one of the numbers were announced, although Miss Beulah Purkey as general director, called attention to minor changes in the program.

Opening Address

"Music and Life" provided Miss Carolyn Haughton with an extremely interesting theme for the short talk with which she opened the program, and in which she stressed the importance which music plays in the human scheme of existence.

She portrayed the manner in which life is set to a musical accompaniment from the lullabies of babyhood to the measured beat of the dirge, and told of the heartening effect of military music, the joyousness of bridal music, and the other phases of life in which comfort, joyousness, sadness or triumph may be expressed musically.

Olline Enlow Matthews, with her usual artistry, made her violin numbers an outstanding part of the program, choosing "Rondino" by Beethoven, and Kreisler's "The Gypsy" for her selections.

Ione Tunison Peck served as her accompanist, as she did for the other artists of the program.

Refreshments of tamale pie, in keeping with the Spanish theme were served. Members of the committee in charge of the evening included Mrs. Herbert Carter, chairman, and Mrs. Edward Daley, Mrs. R. J. Collette and Mrs. William Castler.

Last week's meeting of Capistrano's Y. L. I., held in the Knights of Columbus hall, proved to be especially interesting to the large group of members and guests present, for a varied Spanish program had been planned by the committee in charge.

Mrs. Edith Ritter, principal of Fremont school, opened the program with a talk on "Americanization."

N. D. Meyer discussed "Early History of California," telling of the padres and mission activities.

During a business session, in charge of the president, Mrs. Frank Allaire, plans were made for a Hallowe'en dance to be held Thursday evening, October 27.

Among those present at the meeting were Miss Ann Grey of Pasadena, institute deputy, and Father F. A. Wekenann, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Refreshments of tamale pie, in keeping with the Spanish theme were served. Members of the committee in charge of the evening included Mrs. Herbert Carter, chairman, and Mrs. Edward Daley, Mrs. R. J. Collette and Mrs. William Castler.

Break the eggs into the bowl, add all the various seasonings and whip well to mix. Take at first only a cupful of oil from the refrigerator to avoid chilling the whole quart. Drip it into the egg, beating vigorously. After you have beaten in a cupful you may add chilled vinegar by the tablespoonful, watching carefully so that the vinegar just cuts and thickens up the dressing, then go on with your oil addition, alternating with a little vinegar when you see that it is getting too thick and oily. The crushed clove of garlic is added after the dressing is finished, and only for its flavor. Omit if disliked.

Now what can they do? Settle down to dieting in real earnest! It isn't hard after the first week, particularly if one of my diets is used. In all these diets I specify the use of mayonnaise and French dressing made from mineral oil. The French dressing recipe isn't needed, but there are a few little tricks in making the mayonnaise that I had better outline.

Have eggs and mineral oil chilled for at least 12 hours.

Always use vinegar in making the mayonnaise; lemon juice will not thicken the dressing as vinegar does.

Buy a refined grade of oil from a druggist, ask for an oil with a paraffin base. By the quart it costs about 90 cents.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Mineral Oil Mayonnaise

2 tablespoons prepared mustard

2 teaspoons sugar

1 or more teaspoons salt

2 teaspoons paprika

Good pinch of cayenne

2 large or 3 small eggs, whites and yolks

1 quart paraffin base mineral oil

1 crushed clove of garlic (optional)

Vinegar, ad lib.

My experience has been that mineral oil mayonnaise demands more egg than we use in ordinary mayonnaise, so I think you might safely use three of ordinary size.

While you are doing up the morning work don't forget to put the bowl and egg beater into the refrigerator to chill; if you aren't using ice let the cold water tap run on the utensils until they are thoroughly chilled.

You may have this diet, entirely safe, easy to follow, and efficient, for trouble of sending in a stamped, self-addressed envelope any day this week.

Tuesday's recipe will be Manana Bread.

SERVICES FOR A. LEICHTFUSS HELD TUESDAY

ORANGE, Oct. 17.—Funeral services are to be held at the C. W. Coffey Funeral chapel tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. and the Immanuel Lutheran church at 2 p.m. for August F. Leichtfuss, 77, who passed away at his home here Saturday evening after a brief illness. The Rev. A. G. Webbeking, pastor of the Immanuel church, will be in charge of the service and interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mr. Leichtfuss is survived by his widow, Mrs. Augusta Leichtfuss; seven sons, Alfred, Albert, Oscar, Walter and George of Orange, and Herman and August Jr., of Milwaukee, Wis.; one daughter, Mrs. Albert Struck of Orange; one foster daughter, Mrs. Freida Jaenicke, of Mayville, Wis., 14 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Born in Germany, Mr. Leichtfuss came to America when two years old and lived in Milwaukee until 20 years ago, when he became a resident of this city. He was a member of the Immanuel Lutheran church and was active in church work.

Mrs. Jaenicke arrived in Orange last week to be with her father.

Willing Workers Are Entertained By Mrs. Van Buren

ORANGE, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Bert Van Buren was honored guest at a party given Friday evening by Mrs. Grace Deck, who entertained in her home, 153 South Pine street. Members of the Willing Workers society were guests at the affair, presenting Mrs. Van Buren with an old rose bedspread.

During the evening buns were played, with Mrs. Florence Merriman and Mrs. Gladys McDonald winning first and second prizes. Mrs. R. Kerna was consoled. Refreshments of jello, whipped cream, cake and coffee were served on individual trays. Dahlias, chrysanthemums and other flowers were combined in mixed bouquets arranged throughout the rooms of the Ainsworth building just off Plaza square.

From now on, the office is to be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. until election day in November, it was announced today. Mrs. Minnie Neville, president of the local W.C.T.U., is taking general charge of the office work until it is better established. Members of the union who are taking part in ap recinet campaign, contacting each voter in the 20 precincts of the city, make the office their headquarters as well.

The board members state that the retention of the Wright act means much more to California than the election of any particular candidate.

SCHOOL CHILDREN HELP

In getting their headquarters ready, members of the board have had the co-operation of school children in the rural districts throughout the county. Students have provided the posters which line the walls of the office. The central theme of the posters is "Alcohol Causes Accidents."

Other statements brought out by the school children include "Lindy drank water" and "Drivers must be sober."

The dry workers are distributing a great deal of literature, such as "A nation divided can not endure. No. 1 will repeat the Wright act and be equivalent to secession from the Union, California must remain in the Union. If No. 2 is enacted, it will be the doom of self government. The power of the state will be supreme and the people will have no voice in the government. Note 'No' on No. 1 and No. 2."

Part of Constitution

Another leaflet says, "Be a patriot." The eighteenth amendment is a part of the constitution of the United States. It is the duty of the state to co-operate in its enforcement. The Wright act is the enforcement code for California. All officers are sworn to enforce it at no extra cost to the state. Law abiding citizens obey it. If No. 2 is enacted it will be the doom of local self government.

The power of the state will be supreme and the people will have no voice in the government. Note "No" on No. 1 and No. 2."

It wasn't very long until the Tinymites all lost the thrill of merely tossing clubs around and swinging dumbbells high.

Said Duncy, "Gee! I have a plan that I will work out; if I can a little of my wondrous magic oil I'm going to try."

"I'll pour it on the dumbbells and the Indian clubs. It will be grand if they will come to life. Look out! I'm going to start right now."

The action of the oil was slow. But soon the clubs began to grow queer faces. Then some arms and legs and then some feathers, too. "They're Indians," little Windy cried. "My, but I'm glad the stunt was tried. No wonder they're called Indian clubs. I wonder what they'll do."

One of the Indians shouted, "Hey! We're going to have some fun today. You lads have brought us all to life, so we'll put on a

How WHOOPEE and BALLYHOO Won for Harrison

AMERICA'S CRAZIEST
PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS---

No. 3

The Whigs omitted a platform altogether in 1840 and put over their war-hero candidate, "Old Tippecanoe," in a campaign which still stands as a record breaker for noise, nonsense and wildness

By HENRY W. LAWRENCE

WHOOPEE and ballyhoo won the presidency in the campaign of 1840.

Somebody may wish to add that whoopee and ballyhoo have won all the other presidential campaigns, too; but in 1840 the whoopee was wilder and wetter, and the ballyhoo was more nearly 100 per cent nonsense.

Most of it was on the side of the Whigs, who were running for president a war hero, General William Henry Harrison, and for vice president a man they had borrowed from the other party, a Democrat named John Tyler, who was expected to draw in the disgruntled members of Democracy.

To avoid hurting anybody's feelings, they omitted the platform altogether! No wonder they preferred to depend on whoopee and ballyhoo rather than facts and arguments.

Their opponents, the Democrats, had plenty of facts and arguments and plenty of powerful debaters. They had as their candidate and leader, Martin Van Buren, "The Little Magician," one of the most astute politicians of his day. They had possession of the presidency, and they had all the prestige—what there was left of it—of the great Andrew Jackson.

But the Democrats had two handicaps. They underestimated the importance of amusing the voters; of putting on a good show; of making political whoopee and ballyhoo. Moreover, they had the panic of 1837 on their hands, and the bitter depression that followed had made multitudes of voters eager to take a rap at President Van Buren's administration.

IN this respect, at least, the campaign of 1840 may be said to resemble that of 1932, the Democrats of that time playing the role of the Republicans of today, as the party in power. The slavery issue then might be compared to the prohibition question now, as a trouble-maker for the managers of both parties.

An interesting feature of the 1840 campaign, offering a possible commentary on the situation in 1932, was that the effects of the panic of 1837 were evidently wearing off before the presidential election came, and the party in power seemed to be regaining ground.

Nevertheless, it was turned out of office by the voters.

The overturn seems to have been due largely to the undemocratic blunders made by the Democrats. It is at least an even bet that the Democrats would have won if they had not allowed themselves to be maneuvered into the position of snobbish aristocrats making fun of the plain people.

One of their journals, the Baltimore Republican, spilled the beans by deriding the Whig nominee, Harrison, in the following widely quoted words:

"Give him a barrel of hard cider and a pension of two thousand a year, and, our word for it, he will sit the remainder of his days in a log cabin by the side of a 'sea coal' fire and study moral philosophy." The Whig managers seized upon this blunder instantly.

"BY every possible device," says a recent writer, "the picture of Harrison as the log cabin candidate was kept before the people. Stories of his poverty and of his love of farm work were widely circulated, despite the generous scale of living which had always prevailed in the Harrison house."

"The fact that a wing of the home at North Bend had been originally a log cabin was used as a basis for the tale that the Whig candidate, the friend of the people, lived in a simple log cabin and toiled in the fields, while the aristocrat Van Buren lolled on a satin couch in a palace whose furnishings exceeded the dreams of avarice."

Over against the log-cabin-like simplicity of Harrison, the Whig candidate, was luridly portrayed the palatial luxury of the effete Van Buren, candidate of the Democrats. A prominent specimen of this type of campaign oratory is the speech of Congressman Charles Ogle of Pennsylvania, delivered in the House of Representatives.

It displayed a remarkable knowledge of President Van Buren's household arrangements, scarcely overlooking a tooth brush or a suspender button, and it lamented in great detail his princely extravagance.

He was maintaining "a royal establishment at the cost of the nation," said Ogle. "Will the people feel inclined to support their chief servant in a palace as splendid as that of the Caesars, and as richly adorned as the proudest Asiatic mansion?"

CONGRESSMAN OGLE found place for protests against attacks made upon Candidate Harrison by Van Buren's newspaper. The Globe, which had called Harrison "a superannuated old woman," "a pitiable dotard," "a granny," "a red petticoat general," "the hero of 40 defeats" who delivered "inaugural addresses to pigs and poultry." And Ogle quoted from the New York Evening Post the following facetious item:

"General Harrison's poverty has awakened the sympathy of the ladies of the district, and they are now at work getting up a subscription to supply the 'worn-out hero' with a suit of clothes. If you have any old shoes, old boots, old hats, or old stockings, send them on, and they will be forwarded to the hero of North Bend."

Ogle replied to this with democratic vigor: "I can inform this insolent locofoco that General Harrison, though not rich, has always had money sufficient to pay for hemming his own dish rags and grinding his own knives" (Ogle had found President Van Buren guilty on both these counts), "and that he would scorn to charge the people of the United States with 'foreign cut wine coolers,' 'liquor stands,' and golden chains to hang golden labels around the necks of 'barrel-shape flute decanters with cone stoppers.'"

Such was political repartee in the old days.

(Copyright, 1932, by EveryWeek Magazine—Printed in U. S. A.)

Martin Van Buren . . . all his political astuteness availed him naught against the wave of whoopee and ballyhoo set against him by the Whigs.

rallies were held and cider dispensed. Log cabins were mounted on wheels and drawn through the streets by teams of white horses, surrounded by enthusiasts singing campaign songs about "Tippecanoe and Tyler too," and proclaiming, "Van Van is a used up man." Following is a specimen advertisement of one of these Whig rallies:

"Log-Cabin Meeting this Evening. Boys! —Do You Hear That?

"Glorious news will be communicated. The vocalist, Mr. J. Brown, recently arrived from a Southern Tour, will sing several celebrated, bang-up Tippecanoe Songs!—Two or three speakers—First appearance on the Stump—"Tip" expects now, as he did in 1813, every man to do his duty.

"Rally! Freemen!—Your Country Calls! Exercises will close with a Loco-foco Speech."

The "bang-up Tippecanoe songs" included:

*Let Van from his coolers of silver drink wine,
And lounge on his cushioned settee,
Our man on his buck-eye bench can recline,
Content with hard cider is he."*

General William Henry Harrison . . . swept into the presidency as the "log cabin candidate." . . . From an old campaign cartoon.

THIS line of attack won votes, especially among farmers and backwoodsmen, who flocked to him enthusiastically.

How the whoopee worked is thus explained by one of Harrison's biographers. "Throughout most of the country there was a dearth of amusements, and a political meeting that combined the dramatic quality of the theater with the charms of a circus and a tavern could not fail to be popular. The enthusiasm was contagious, the desire to be in the midst of the crowd at the local log cabin, to sing and roar whole-heartedly as the rest of the boys were doing, was irresistible." Thus the campaign took on a terrific momentum.

In every village there was a log cabin where the victory of whoopee and ballyhoo seemed complete, but the sweetness of its flavor very soon turned bitter. On March 4 Harrison was inaugurated. On April 4 he was dead, exhausted by the exuberance of his success. The vice president, John Tyler, then became president. He was not a Whig at all. He was a disgruntled Democrat, borrowed by the Whig managers to help elect their platformless ticket.

He continued to be a Democrat, and fought the Whig party to a finish during the whole of his unfortunate administration. He remains in history as a shining example of the risks attending a campaign in which platform and principles are replaced by whoopee.

COUNTY G. O. P. WILL RALLY IN ANAHEIM TODAY

Tony Comacho, 35, Delhi resident, was arrested by sheriff's officers and Santa Ana police, who raided his home Saturday night and found a small quantity of beer.

The raid was conducted on a search warrant obtained by the sheriff's office.

Comacho was lodged in the county jail charged with possession of liquor.

ANNOUNCE SPEAKERS FOR J. C. ASSEMBLY

President C. K. Edmunds of Pomona college; Dean R. L. McClung, College of Commerce, University of Southern California; and W. K. Hillyard, county surveyor, will address the divisions of education and science, the division of commerce, and the division of engineering, respectively, at Santa Ana Junior college tomorrow morning in the first compulsory assembly for the associated students.

Mark Jones, prominent attorney from Los Angeles will be the principal speaker. He spoke before a large audience in Long Beach yesterday.

The musical program will consist of the Kiwanian orchestra from Fullerton, the Elk's glee club and solo by Ed Backs.

The tickets are 75 cents per person and may be secured at the door if reservations have not yet been made. The dinner is open to women as well as men.

ENDURANCE DRIVE WILL END TONIGHT

Spurred on by the grim determination of youth, cowboy Ted Leonard, 22-year-old endurance driver, fought desperately today against physical exhaustion in his 72-hour non-stop run in which he is attempting to set a fuel record with Economy gasoline and a Rockne "65" sedan.

Clinging tenaciously to his post after 65 hours of continuous driving while handcuffed to the steering wheel, the young driver at 1 p. m. today had only seven hours to go to reach the 72 hour mark.

Anticipating a record-breaking crowd to witness the end of the run, Johnson has made preparations to accommodate several thousand spectators at his showroom, First and Main, when cowboy Leonard is scheduled to finish at 8 p. m. today. On hand to greet the young cowboy will be his wife and two-year-old daughter, officials of the Los Angeles branch of the Studebaker and Rockne corporations, officials of the Economy Gasoline company, and many friends.

Chief of Police Floyd Howard, who handcuffed Leonard to the wheel at the start of the run, will release him as he finishes. Through the courtesy of Winbiger's, they will have their Studebaker ambulance on hand to take the exhausted youth to his hotel. Howard also will break the seal on the speedometer, and announce the mileage.

JAMES DUNN FILM
AT WALKER STATE

The poignant spectacle of an articulate, but quite sincere, young man of the masses fighting against the obstacles of misunderstanding is again vividly portrayed by James Dunn in his latest Fox romantic drama, "Society Girl," which opened yesterday at Walker's State theater. Peggy Shannon has the title role and Spencer Tracy is featured in support.

Dunn's innate honesty of characterization, the quality he so impressively demonstrated in "Bad Girl," is again the chief charm in this interesting study of manners and morals as they are contrasted between the four hundred and the four million.

TWO FEATURES ON AT WEST COAST

Our big stars are seen in the new features which open today at the Fox West Coast theater.

The two features are "Hollywood Speaks," starring Genevieve Tobin and Pat O'Brien and "The Phantom of Crestwood," featuring Ricardo Cortez, and Mary Duncan.

"The Phantom of Crestwood" is a mystery drama which started over a national hook-up on the radio and was never completed.

Hundreds of Santa Anans have heard the eerie sequences and should be deeply interested in the film. There is a supporting cast of 10 others all well known in films.

"Hollywood Speaks" is the latest thing about Hollywood to come from Hollywood. It is smart and fast, with O'Brien cast as a newspaper columnist.

TWO MEETINGS FOR DEMOCRATS TONIGHT

Announcement was made today at Democratic headquarters here that a final organization meeting which will complete formation of the local unit of the Democratic Women's club, will be held at Headquarters, Second and Main streets, at 7 o'clock tonight.

Marks Jarel, who is organizing the club, invited every lady interested in joining, to attend this meeting.

At 8 o'clock tonight at headquarters will be held a joint meeting of executive, finance and organization divisions. Chairman Judge John Mitchell has requested all having membership in this organization to attend this meeting tonight.

'BLOND VENUS' WELL LIKED AT BROADWAY

Marlene Dietrich comes into her in "The Blond Venus," which opened here for a four day run on Sunday.

The famous German star, star of "Morocco," "The Shanghai Express" and "Dishonored" is seen in different type role this time. In "The Blond Venus" she is not the siren, not the destroyer of men, but a woman who seeks happiness outside of her family circle.

She pays the price, but she finds this happiness in the end. The film is a strong drama, with Dietrich never better cast.

AGED RESIDENT IS INJURED IN FALL

W. S. Close, 84 year old resident of 907-1/2 East Second street, suffered a fracture for Saturday afternoon when he fell from a wall he was walking on to the ground, a distance of six feet.

He was taken to the Orange county hospital where he is a patient.

Calumpit Auxiliary

Gather at Ranch Home

Women of Calumpit auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans were especially fortunate last week in being granted the hospitality of the W. W. Tantlinger home on Newport road, which recent and extensive renovations have made almost new.

Set in a plot of orange trees, the ranch grounds made an ideal setting for the out-door interval with which the afternoon was concluded, when guests were served homemade ice cream. Earlier in the day members partook of a covered dish dinner within the home, committee members assisting the hostess being Mesdames James W. Isbell, H. C. Moberly, Charles Reagan and William Kellogg.

Guests at the all-day affair were Mesdames Beatrice Zabel Merle Anderson and L. Lamb members present including Mesdames Jack Hess, Z. F. Williams, Charles W. Hyatt, Oscar Kurtz William Showalter, Charles Donovan, Charles Chatalin, John Markwelder, Charles Lindquist and Nellie Kenney, in addition to committee members.

A POINT OF NOTABLE PROGRESS

The Clinical Congress of the World is meeting in Chicago, and the director-general of the American College of Surgeons, in his address to this body, has given us some interesting data which appears in another column of today's paper.

When we sometimes become discouraged over the apparent failure of progress in certain lines of endeavor, it is a joy to turn to the department of medicine, and particularly surgery, and note the tremendous advances that are being made. Few are the men and women today who do not feel a deep sense of gratitude for the wonderful work that has been done on their own behalf, or on behalf of some member of their family, by the union of forces in some hospital.

Within the last 15 years, the mortality rate in hospitals has been reduced by over 66 per cent, and strange to say, the number of days that patients must stay in hospitals has been cut in two during this same period.

We are told that one of the chief reasons for this improvement and saving in life and in expense, is the higher standards which have been established and maintained, and this has been through the determination by the hospitals to comply with the requirements which have been laid down by the American College of Surgeons.

Fourteen years ago there were only 89 hospitals in the United States, so Dr. Martin declares, that could meet the requirements, and today there are 2294 such hospitals. In Orange county we have three that meet such requirements.

There has been a marked change in the attitude of mind of the patients and the members of the family in respect to hospitals in the last two decades. Then the thought of going to a public institution for care, frequently meant that nearly all means had been used to restore the patient to health, and, as a last resort, they were being taken to the hospital, and there was an association, in one's mind, of extreme danger and probable death. It is far different today. Because of the remarkable equipment, the fine service, the relatively low cost, and the lack of equipment in the home, the first thought, even in very minor cases, is that of the hospital.

The restfulness that is connected with the stay, the perfect care, the insurance against mistake, all tend now to give joy, satisfaction and hope, rather than dismay, at the thought of the hospital. It really is with an insurance that time and money will be saved, as well as better health assured, by going immediately to the institutions so thoroughly equipped. While there are some things yet to be desired on behalf of our hospitals, in meeting the needs of the unfortunate who are extremely limited in means, yet we are exceedingly thankful for what has been accomplished. And many of us are enjoying the comradeship of those who are in relatively good health, which we know we could not enjoy, were it not for that efficiency in respect to knowledge, equipment, and care, made possible through our hospitals.

EVIDENCE OF SINCERITY

President Hoover has always been put down as anything but a politician, and not much of a fighter. But certainly he is going to shine in a new role, regardless of the outcome in November. He is the one who is carrying the fight into the most difficult places, and meeting the enemy where they are, face to face.

While he is not a ready speaker, and cannot adjust himself quickly to a large number of facts, he has come back with smashing addresses, and has, in the opinion of his opponents, made notable progress, particularly in his Des Moines speech, and it will probably be true of his Cleveland speech. Undoubtedly if all those who have been in agreement with Mr. Hoover, and those who had advised him along the lines of his public action, would be as strong and enthusiastic and determined on his behalf as he is himself, his election would be more certain.

We are confident that this evidences on Mr. Hoover's part a sincerity and conviction that he was right in his position, and the failure on the part of some who have been his close advisers, to take up strongly the cudgel on his behalf, does not evidence a sincerity on their part.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation measure undoubtedly saved this country from a greater slump, and while it would not be just or fair to claim that this was a partisan action, yet we must give Mr. Hoover credit for furnishing the leadership in this respect. The amendment to the Federal Reserve Act has also helped. And the Home Loan banks that are now being established, will greatly aid.

In our economic thinking, we should bear these things in mind, and those of us who are interested in the peaceful settlement of international disputes, and realize that this is also to have a direct effect upon the re-establishment of our industrial equilibrium, the strength of Mr. Hoover's attitude in respect to this is unquestioned.

The prohibition issue is necessarily a secondary issue in the Presidential campaign. It is important in the consideration of Congressmen and United States Senators, and it might have been important if either of the candidates of the major parties had taken such a pronounced stand different from the other, that there would have been an issue. But upon that issue there is no perceptible difference of opinion, except in the attitude assumed by the "wets" and the "drys" themselves. This is unfortunate, but we must recognize it.

THE SUPREME COURT TO MOVE

The Supreme Court of the United States will move out of its contracted quarters in the Capitol building within a year or so into a much more capacious and stately building. It will be a building befitting its dignity and the influence which it has had in fixing the final law of the nation. The new building was the dream of the late Chief Justice Taft, and it was largely through his influence and his efforts that it has been made possible. The building is to cost $10,000,000.

There are many, however, and among them some of the present members of the Court, who believe that it was too lavish a plan. One of the Court members has been known to say that there was plenty of room in the present quarters, and that a new building was wholly unnecessary. It was projected in the days of the boom when money was plentiful, and no project was thought to be too expensive. As one looks over the plans,—the tremendous corridors, the capacious room for the court sessions, and the lavish provisions for each of the justices, and the rich ornamentation,—it does seem as if it expresses a lavishness not justified by the present state of national finances, or necessary to meet the needs of the legitimate business of the court. Such apparent waste needs considerable justification and explanation in times like these.

DR. EINSTEIN AGES THE EARTH

Dr. Albert Einstein insists that there has been a miscalculation in the age of the earth, and he proceeds to correct it. He says that it is ten billion years old. The other calculations by reliable scientific authorities place the age of the earth at about three billion years.

If Dr. Einstein is wrong about this, it seems to us that the "old girl" could almost sue him for damages, for that is some difference in age. We can imagine that it would be exceedingly interesting to listen to a debate between the three-billion-years fellows and Dr. Einstein. We could arrive at just as intelligent and satisfactory conclusions as we can after listening to some of the political "hooley" that we hear over the radio. In some cases, we are confident the speaker is glad he is only facing the microphone. He couldn't get away with it if he were meeting his crowd face to face.

Tulips and Treaties

—Christian Science Monitor—

A garden may be interesting because of its flowers. Or because of the gardener. A garden in Sussex has attracted attention recently on both counts. It is—rather was—Sir Austen Chamberlain's.

Sir Austen has opened some of its secrets to readers of the Countryman, and is revealing himself as ardent a gardener as he is an able statesman. Evidently his activities have run the gamut from the League of Nations to Tennyson's "league of grass." Those who know Sir Austen by the part he has played in making treaties may wonder at his finding time and enthusiasm to master the complexities he discusses with such ease in "My Cottage Garden." But those who remember his father, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, will recall a prophetic orchid in that gentleman's lapel—an almost perfect buttonhole.

"It is the anecdote that best defines the personality," says Emil Ludwig. Perhaps so. And perhaps that is why Sir Austen takes pleasure in recalling a visit he made in 1925 to a famous Alpine garden. Sir Austen happened to remark on a group of tulips whose leaves were pushing up but whose buds were not yet showing. Later that day another visitor, hearing that Sir Austen had been there, said: "Ah, you have had the Minister for Foreign Affairs here? It is a great honor for your garden."

"Minister of Foreign Affairs, pooh!" exclaimed the owner. "There is a Minister of Foreign Affairs in every country, but there is only one who can identify Tulipa clusiana by its leaves."

Says Sir Austen:

The story spread (shall I confess? I helped to spread it) and my reputation was made. There was one subject at least of which I knew more than my colleagues.

Characteristic of the English as is this love of flowers, it is always refreshing to come upon new words. Sir Austen probably will be readily forgiven any pride he may take in his superior knowledge of tulips. He is an Englishman, and it was an Englishman who wrote:

To me the meanest flower that blows can give thoughts that do often lie too deep for tears.

These are the words of one who served Great Britain with the golden pen of a laureate. A Minister of Foreign Affairs may put it differently—in a lighter, more matter-of-fact way. But somehow, one is sure both men would find common ground among the blooms.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE VANISHING RACE

"Oh! Indian! Oh! wild, noble Indian," said I. "Already the sun has climbed high in the sky, why not hurry forth, with the speed of the gale. Where the red deer is hiding away in the vale, or lay the fast-galloping antelope low. With the feather-tipped shaft of your hickory bow?" The proud-visaged native American sighed; "My flivver is busted," he shortly replied.

"Then Red-Man," said I, "where you lake shimmers blue. Why not paddle far in your birch-bark canoe? There are geese in the rushes, and trout in the deeps, And beside yonder island the muscalonge sleeps. A bow and a rod will supply you with food. To keep, through the winter, yourself and your brood." My primitive friend merely wagged his head; "I ain't got no gas for my motor," he said.

"But listen," quoth I, "there is many a bear You may track to some deep, subterranean lair, And promptly dispose of his head and his hide. Which some tourist will presently point to with pride. The hard battling bear that he conquered and slew." "No time," said the Chief, "to go out after bear; The 'speakes' take up all the time I can spare."

"Poor Lo!" I observed, "is there not the least trace In you and your fellows of pride in your race? Have you never a thrill when you think of the years, When your ancestors followed their wild, free careers? Do you never bark back to the wild, careless ways And the golden delights of the Deerslayer days, When your people were daring and noble and free?" The red-man replied, with a grimace: "Not me!"

NATURAL UNEASINESS

Now Mayor Walker is wondering if they'll love him in November as they did in May.

NEVER FAILING INDUCATION

In these days if a stranger speaks pleasantly to you you know he is a candidate for something.

HARDLY PROBABLE

Mr. Walker and Judge Seabury were both in Europe, but the chances are that they didn't do any palming around together over there.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

EMOTIONALIZING POLITICS

Even in normal times American politics could stand less emotionalization and more rationalization. Bring about such recovery and stabilization and radical attacks upon the ideals of the American home will find small welcome.

As I have said before in these articles, it is not the seeds of radicalism but the soils of radicalism that should now be giving us grave concern.

It behoves us to be suspicious of the office-seeker who grows emotional about the home and dodges the basic issues of economic recovery.

We must fight the temptation to middle-headed terror which makes us easy victims of the emotionalized politician.

We must be realistic about the economic difficulty in which we find ourselves, but we must insist that our leaders put first things first.

We must beware of the red herrings of piety and sentiment that politicians without a program seek to drag across our line of vision.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

MONDAY MORNING

Take it any way you look at it. Monday morning is a bad time for the children. The week end broke their routine. Their bodies have been forced to adjust themselves to another rhythm and that always makes children, and grown people, irritable. They don't mean to be bad tempered, they just are, and cannot help it. When your whole body is grumbling your mind cannot maintain a sweet and strong attitude. That would be too much to ask even of one's mind.

Let's reduce it to a more conservative figure, make it about 2 and a half miles, pop said. In war time we thawt nothing of doing hikes of 15 or 20 miles under full equipment, or rather we thawt plenty but we had to do it just the same. And wawking 15 or 20 miles with a 60 or 70 pound load on your back may be child's play for a horse but as far as I'm concerned the horses are welcome to it, he said.
